Explore local care, support and community services at the free 2026 Latrobe Care Expo

More than 50 local organisations will come together in Traralgon this October for the 2026 Latrobe Care Expo, providing community members with direct access to aged care, disability, health, veterans' and community support services.

Presented by Gippsland Primary Health Network (Gippsland PHN), the free event will bring together more than 50 local organisations from the aged care, disability, health, veterans' services and community sectors, providing a unique opportunity for people to explore available services, ask questions and connect directly with local providers.

Attendees will have the opportunity to speak with service providers, access practical information and resources, and gain a better understanding of the programs and supports available to them.

The event will also be valuable for carers and families who are supporting someone through their care journey, providing an opportunity to learn about available programs, services and resources designed to make caring easier.

Gippsland PHN Chief Executive Officer, Amanda Proposch, said the expo would provide a valuable opportunity for people to learn about services available across Latrobe City.

'The Latrobe Care Expo brings a wide range of services together in one location, making it easier for people to access information and connect with providers who can help,' Ms Proposch said.

'Whether you are planning for the future, navigating care options now, or supporting a family member, friend or neighbour, the expo provides an opportunity to have conversations and learn about the support available in our community.'
